An Election Reminder

On February 25, 2010 at 2:00 p.m. Eastern Standard Time, the Simulator Technicians voting process will be completed. Shortly thereafter, the results will be announced. We anticipate that this election will be the first of many IAM victories on the Delta property. We remind those Simulator Technicians who haven't voted yet to do so. This will assure your right to be represented by North America's largest transportation union – the IAM. We offer our most sincere appreciation and thanks to those who assisted in this difficult campaign. We believe your hard work will soon be rewarded with an IAM victory.

This election would have never come to fruition without pre-merger Delta Simulator Technicians signing an authorization card requesting the National Mediation Board to hold one. Other pre-merger Delta employees, who desire to be represented by the IAM, need to sign an authorization card today petitioning the NMB to hold an election. Return your signed and dated card to an IAM organizer to assure it will be received by the NMB. The IAM and the NMB are the only ones who will know if you signed one; not Delta management. The election process requires your involvement. Don't waste this opportunity to have a voice in your future.

Remember, when the time comes, Vote Union, Vote IAM!
