

A Voice & A Vote

Without a union, there very simply is no democracy in the workplace. Any good idea you have, any change you want to make, any improvement in your work life you may desire is subject to the mood of a manager, without the union.

The Union is the voice of the worker — It is your voice.

Don't like your rep? Vote for someone else, or run for the job yourself. Want to see a change in your contract? Submit a proposal that fits YOUR vision. Think your Union should take a position on an issue? Simply go to a meeting and voice your opinion.

Want to make a change at work? Use the power of your Union. There is no other government-sanctioned, legally enforceable way in the USA for us as workers to have this democracy in the workplace. Without the Union, the workplace is a dictatorship

And that's the way the company would prefer it. If the merger is approved, Delta will pour every resource imaginable into defeating our workplace rights.

Brave women and men fought and some died for our ability to simply have a vote in the workplace. Our right to be Union is rooted in the great Constitution of the United States of America.

Want to vote on your next contract? Want your voice to have meaning at work? Want a better working future for you and your children? Then stand up and protect your rights!
